

Builder Energy Code Training (BECT)

Clients

Pacific Gas and Electric (PG&E)

Southern California Edison (SCE)

Project Location(s)

California, PG&E and SCE service territories

Project Description

PG&E and SCE contracted with ConSol, a third party energy efficiency implementation specialist to implement the Builder Energy Code Training (BECT) Program which provides free, in-depth codes and compliance education to help builders, installing contractors, building officials and more in PG&E and SCE service territory to better understand California's rigorous 2013 Title 24 Energy Code. Since 1995 this dynamic program has helped the building industry keep up with changes in the energy codes. The BECT program improves compliance with Title 24 through classroom, on-site and webinar trainings, which focuses on the most comprehensive and cost-effective ways to bring a home up to and above the CA Energy Code requirements.
